Sumitomo Corporation Group's Corporate Mission Statement, consisting of the Management Principles and Activity Guidelines, is the fundamental and ultimate value standard of the Group and this underpins our UK Tax Policy Statement.

Our UK Tax Policy Statement has been derived from our Global Tax Principles and expanded to meet the disclosure requirements of UK law. It is approved by the Board of Directors of Sumitomo Corporation and independently acknowledged and approved for adoption by the management of all Sumitomo entities in the UK, here being Sumitomo UK companies and branches.

Commitment to compliance

"Giving First Priority to Compliance" and "Reporting Compliance Issues Immediately" are fundamental principles of our corporate activities.

We are committed to paying taxes and fulfilling our tax reporting obligations in compliance with all relevant tax laws, rules and other regulations based on the principle of tax compliance.

We are committed to the accurate and timely submission of tax returns and any other required tax documents to the relevant authorities.

The international nature of our business means that the pricing of cross-border intercompany transactions is a key tax consideration for us. We are therefore committed to UK tax law and related rules in respect of transfer pricing.

Tax risk management and governance

Our UK Tax Policy Statement is aligned with our Corporation Governance Principles and our Global Tax Principles.

We have a decentralised management structure and responsibility for implementing the UK Tax Policy Statement rests with individual entity management.

The following priorities direct all our risk management activities, and this includes those relating to tax:

- Stabilising our performance (specifically the predictability of performance)
- Strengthening our financial base (i.e. protecting the shareholder assets)
- Maintaining our Corporate Reputation

Our approach to tax risk management places importance on correctly identifying tax risk at the start of a transaction, on an ongoing basis thereafter (for example by responding appropriately to changes in tax law and practice) and on preventing the known risks from crystallising in future.

This approach is supported by a culture of information sharing in respect of risk between management and related departments.

We recognise that our environment is constantly changing and in response we continually upgrade our approach to tax risk management. This includes meeting with outside specialists and engaging external advisors to understand and implement evolving best practice.

Tax Planning

In line with our Global Tax Principles, we shall only engage in tax planning that is based on substantial commercial and/or economic activity which serves the interest of our shareholders and all other stakeholders. In line with our risk management priorities described above, in order to 'strengthen our financial base' we shall optimize our tax costs considering all applicable tax regulation. However, to support 'predictability of performance' and to 'maintain our corporate reputation' we shall not conduct any transaction whose purpose is solely or mainly for tax avoidance or tax mitigation; we shall not artificially create transactions to achieve double non-taxation and we shall not conceal or disguise facts to avoid taxation.

Tax Risk Appetite

In line with our Corporate Governance Principles, compliance takes priority over all corporate activities and the Group must never violate compliance as a result of giving priority to the pursuit of profit.

This prioritisation of compliance describes our approach to discretionary tax risk.

We acknowledge that some risk is inevitable in what is often a technically and operationally challenging area, but we seek to manage that risk in the manner described above.

HMRC relationship

We act with honesty and sincerity when dealing with HMRC on the basis of Sumitomo's business philosophy and in keeping with its Management Principles.

In connection with any tax audits, we endeavour for our tax auditors to understand our transactions in an open and constructive way. Where the result of a tax audit is unfavourable, we shall continue towards resolution in a positive and professional manner.

The publication of this statement is regarded as complying with paras. 19(2) and 22(2), Part 2 of Sch. 19 Finance Act 2016.
